Welcome to Fundy National Park

Whether you're here for your first time or you're returning to your "home away from home," welcome to Fundy National Park, the land of salt and fir! For 65 years this place—and the wonder found within it—has been set aside and protected for you to enjoy, to share and to discover.

If ever there was a place and time to celebrate, it is here and now at Fundy National Park. Look around and you will see renewal and vitality throughout the Park: our highways and campgrounds are being refreshed to play host to our growing numbers of visitors; our network of trails is being revitalized to improve and diversify your trail experience; and the "King of Fish" and the wildness that they represent are being restored through our innovative Atlantic Salmon conservation program. I am very proud of our team of staff, partners, and volunteers who are bringing these changes to life, every day.

In the face of all this change you can take heart in knowing that the essence of Fundy remains unchanged: the rhythm of the tides, the darkness of the night sky, and the rush of water plummeting down our many waterfalls. Fundy has always been a gathering place to share memorable moments with your friends and family and to experience the unforgettable.

One of my favourite experiences is hiking the Moosehorn-Laverty trail, where I like spending time exploring and swimming in the crystal clear pools of the Broad River. It is a day excursion I look forward to sharing with my friends and family every year. What is your favourite Fundy experience? If you haven't found it yet, stop by our newly renovated Visitor Reception Centre and let us help you discover it.

Fundy National Park is full of opportunities for exploration. Around every corner, and across every horizon there is a memorable moment waiting to be uncovered. This is your Park, and we look forward to hosting you!

Why Salt and Fir?

Writer Maimie Steeves, a former resident of Point Wolfe Village, coined the expression "people of the salt and the fir" to describe her people and their history with the sea and the forest. We borrow it for the name of this guide to honour all things that bind us to the earth.

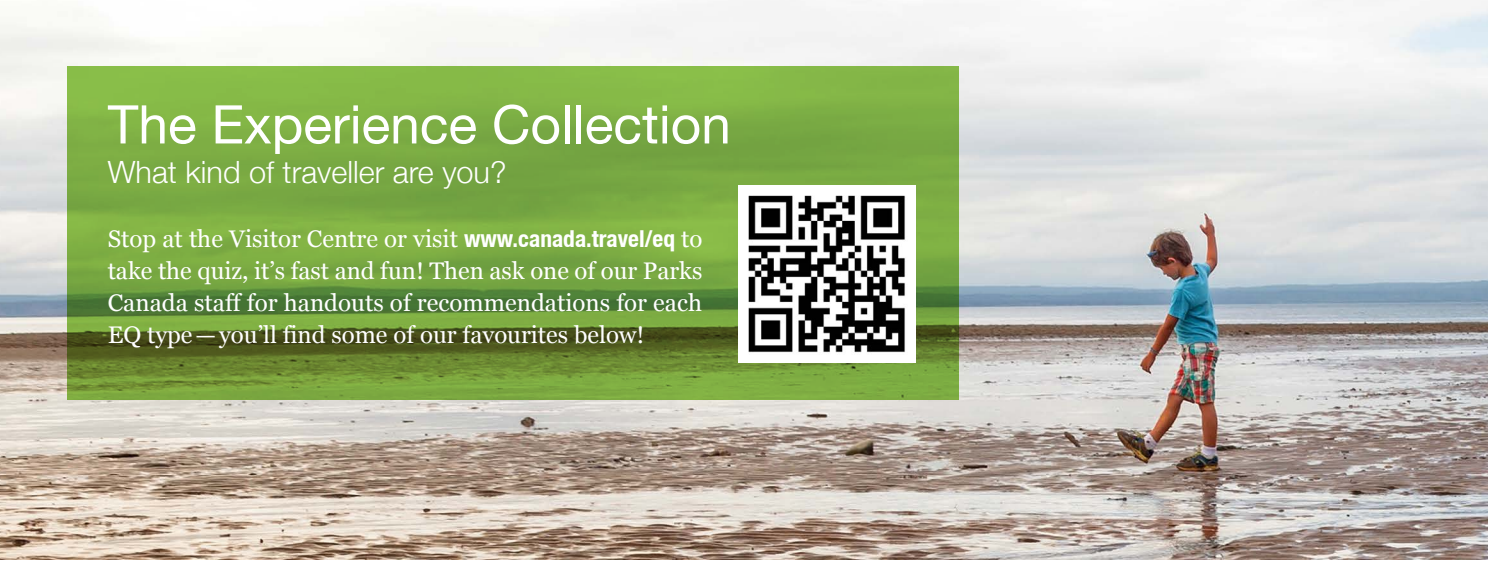
The Experience Collection

What kind of traveller are you?

Stop at the Visitor Centre or visit www.canada.travel/eq to take the quiz, it's fast and fun! Then ask one of our Parks Canada staff for handouts of recommendations for each EQ type—you'll find some of our favourites below!



Authentic Experiencer

You are open to spur of the moment opportunities, exploring nature, history and culture, all on the path to personal development. You enjoy using all of your senses, and really get to know the places you visit. You tend to stay away from group tours and rigid plans.

Are you interested in a behind-the-scenes look at Fundy National Park? Parks Canada's volunteer program provides you with a unique opportunity to contribute to the conservation and restoration of Fundy National Park. Check out page 18 of this visitor guide or visit our website for details.

Cultural Explorer

You are a very active traveler who enjoys week-end escapes. You dive into the entire experience of the culture, people and settings of the places you visit. You often converse with local people, attend local festivals, or go off the beaten track to discover how people truly live.

Your Fundy experience isn't complete without sampling some of the region's best local fair. Fresh lobster is caught daily by Alma's fishing fleet. Stop by any one of Alma's restaurants or lobster shops to discover how to cook them, crack them, and eat them like a local. Pick one up to go, and make lobster part of your ultimate Fundy picnic experience.

Cultural & Natural History Buff

When you travel, you are likely pursuing a personal interest or hobby to make the experience even more rewarding. You seek the freedom to observe, absorb and learn at your own pace, unhurried by others or rigid schedules.

During your overnight stay in Fundy National Park, discover our newest trail… the Milky Way. Participate in the 2015 Fundy Star Party in September or check out interpretation schedule to join weekly astronomy program with a very know-ledgeable guide and super tracking telescope.

No-Hassle Traveller

A bit of an escapist, you prefer worry-free travel. You want to spend time with family and friends. You strive for relaxation, simplicity, and a chance to experience the beauty of natural scenery and different cultures.

Fundy Tides are served twice daily! From the deck of your yurt or oTENTik, watch the outgoing tide reveal the mysteries of the seafloor below. Relax and share the simple moments, it will all be washed away as the tide rolls in. Bring your camera to capture the perfect souvenir: a time-lapse photo or video.

Gentle Explorer

You like to return to past destinations and enjoy the security of familiar surroundings. You appreciate convenience, relaxation and typically look for all the comforts of home. Travel should be fun, not extra work!

Welcome back! Fundy is a place where old family traditions live on and new traditions begin. Enjoy sunny, summer days at the saltwater pool, friendly rounds of golf, evenings of stories and song at our famous group campfire circle or a favourite family hike. Don't forget to leave time for tidal art—take a picture of your creation and add it to the album!

Personal History Traveller

You travel to gain a deeper understanding of your ancestry and heritage. You like to share your experience, both during and after the trip. You like to go in style, comfort and security.

Just as the tides have shaped the Fundy landscape, so too have they shaped the cultures and traditions of the people who live here. Catch a glimpse of Fundy's past on route to Point Wolfe, where a thriving community once existed, and learn about the restoration work done by Parks Canada.

Free Spirit

Something of a thrill-seeker, travel satisfies your insatiable need for the exciting and the exotic. You have a lot of energy and want to see and do everything. Young, or young-at-heart, you travel for the thrill and emotional charge of doing things.

You've heard of a birds-eye view; now experience a whale's eye view! Kayaking along the Fundy coast offers endless adventure and a unique perspective on some of your favourite destinations in Fundy National Park. Rentals and tours are available in town.

Rejuvenator

For you, travel is a chance to totally disconnect and just get away from it all. All you want to do is escape, recharge and renew. While you might seek out destinations with a few interesting things to see and do, you don't want an overly hectic agenda.

Steal a moment for yourself to sit, relax, and be still. Our Red Chairs are strategically placed throughout the park, so that you can make the most of Fundy's spectacular scenery. Find the view that speaks to you or re-visit your favourite vista and settle in for a second, a minute, an hour or two.

Backcountry Camping

For those looking to experience Fundy National Park's wilderness, nothing beats a backcountry camping trip. Fundy's backcountry campsites provide pit privies, tent pads and wilderness! Campfires and wood service are available at Chambers Lake, Goose River and Tracy Lake (site 12). Campsites 2, 6, 10 and 12 are group campsites and can accommodate up to 8 adults.

Goose River is located along the Fundy Coast. These campsites are the best place to experience dramatic cliff-top views or camping on a secluded beach.

Marven-Chambers has quiet lakeside campsites, hidden in the Caledonia Highlands.

Tracey Lake An easy hike from Bennett Lake takes you to Tracey Lake where you can enjoy camping under the stars.

Mid-Country Camping

If you enjoy a camping experience that allows you to escape to the wilderness, but prefer to be able to access services and amenities through the day, mid-country camping is for you: just far enough away to escape, but not far enough to feel disconnected.

Wolfe Lake This small, secluded campground is located at the west end of the park, beside Wolfe Lake. Services are limited to a pit privy, a picnic shelter with a wood stove and firewood, as well as drinking water.

Our rustic cabins can accommodate four adults. They are an easy, affordable and comfortable way to enjoy Fundy. From the vantage point of your private deck, soak in splendid views of the Bay of Fundy and the Acadian forest. The two cabins are located at Hastings Road and Maple Grove Trail within a short distance from the parking lot. Each cabin is equipped with bunk beds, a wood stove, an outdoor fire pit, a picnic table and pit privies. You must bring some essentials such as water, food, sleeping mats and sleeping bags.

Front country Camping

Fundy National Park has three front country campgrounds, each providing a unique camping experience. You will find amenities such as washrooms, showers, electrical, sewer and water hookups all within close proximity to other Park services and facilities. Take a closer look at our front country offer and decide which site is just right for you!

Chignecto North Campground This campground has serviced and unserviced sites with campfire pits. It is a great place for families looking for active, outdoor adventure as it is close to hiking and biking trails, playgrounds, the public program campfire circle and the astronomy viewing site.

Headquarters Campground Headquarters is for those looking for camping made easy! It offers great views of the Bay of Fundy, access to all the services and facilities in the headquarters area including our natural playground. It is within walking distance of the Village of Alma.

Point Wolfe Campground Get just far enough away to escape! This campground provides a simplified frontcountry camping experience with unserviced sites and fire pits; Point Wolfe is in the heart of some of Fundy's most spectacular coastal wilderness.

Group Camping

Four group campsites for tent camping are available to organized groups. Sites can accommodate 20 to 50 people and share a single service building containing washrooms and kitchen shelters. There is one fire pit on each of the four sites. Reservations are required and can be made by calling (506) 887-6000.

Yurts and oTENTiks

Experience Fundy like NEVER before. This vacation, put a new spin on an old family tradition by staying in one of the Fundy National Park yurts or oTENTiks. It's all the marshmallow-y nostalgia of your youth; a perfect blend of comfort and outdoor adventure. Cozy up by the fire, gaze up at the starry night sky, drift off to sleep in a comfortable bed. Your "not-so-traditional hassle-free" vacation.

Yurts These comfortable round abodes can accommodate a family of 5 and are located in the Headquarters Campground. Bring your own bedding and cooking gear.

Whether by bicycle, foot, or ski…

Our trails provide you with access to Fundy National Park's most amazing places; plunging waterfalls, secluded beaches and breathtaking coastal cliffs await! With over 100 km of trails ranging from short, accessible boardwalks to multi-day adventures, you will find a trail that is just right for you!

Having a great trail experience starts with finding the right match; what do you want to see? Do you want to challenge yourself or to relax? Do you want to travel by bicycle or by foot? Our trail classification system can help you find a trail that matches your interests. Decide which of the following descriptions best reflects the experience you are looking for and select a trail from the list.

© Parks Canada / C. Reardon

Easy trails ●

Shorter trails with level terrain. Suitable for most visitors including those with little trail experience.

Moderate trails ■

Medium length trails and moderate elevation gain with some short steep sections. Suitable for visitors who have some basic trail experience and are generally prepared

Difficult trails ◆

Longer trails with long steep sections, rough terrain, and/or river crossings. Suitable for visitors who have trail experience and are prepared; bring a map, a first aid kit, extra clothing, water and food.

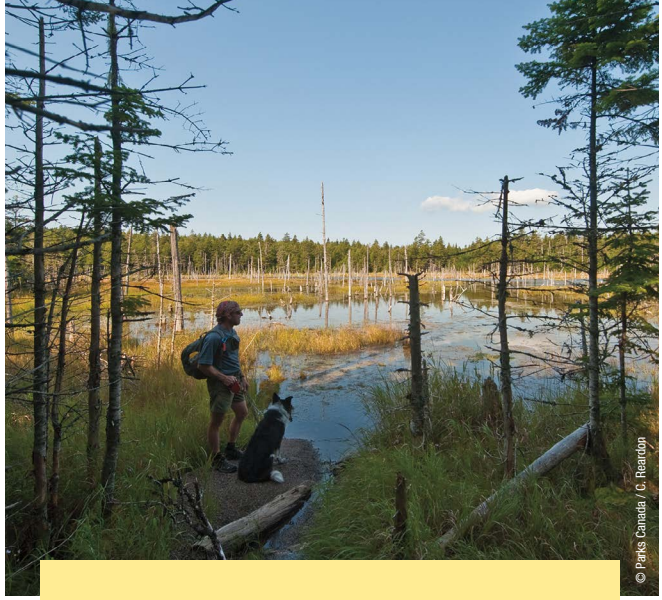
Trail tips

Making the most of your trail experience! Pick a trail that best matches your interests, abilities and experience.

- Bring a map, know your trail route and stick to the plan: getting lost is never part of the plan!
- Tell someone your planned route and estimated time of return.
- Bring extra layers: coastal breezes can be cool even when the forests are warm. Weather can change quickly.
- Bring water and food. Dehydration makes you tired and hunger makes you grumpy — not fun!
- Footwear with good traction and support is best when exploring trails; running shoes or lightweight boots are good choices.
- Leave no trace: please carry out all garbage, yours and any you may find on the trail.
- Be aware that your cell phone carrier might not available in all areas of the park.

Drinking Water

Assume all surface water is unfit to drink unless first boiled for 10 minutes or adequately filtered.



Pets

Pets are welcome but must be kept on a leash at all times. Stoop and scoop every time! Pets are not permitted in designated swimming areas.

River Crossings

Several trails in the park have river crossings. Water levels are monitored and crossings are closed when water levels are high and conditions are most hazardous. At these times, signs are posted at the trailhead to indicate the closure. More information on river crossings is available at the park's Visitor Centre and kiosks. If you are unsure about water conditions or your ability to cross safely, don't take a chance. Crossing the river can be dangerous.

Bicycling

Fundy's landscape offers trails that appeal to bicyclists of every level, from flat and forested trails for family outings to exciting ravines where you can challenge friends. Trails that are used for cycling are shared with hikers so please yield to pedestrians when travelling these trails.

Fundy National Park is a Dark Sky Preserve. On your overnight visit, let your eyes drift upward and explore our newest trail: the Milky Way.

Multi-day hiking experiences

Looking for a more challenging adventure in and around Fundy National Park? Try one of our multi-day hiking experiences!

Trans Canada Trail Sentier NB Trail, Parks Canada and the Trans Canada Trail selected 33 kilometres of existing trails within Fundy National Park and converted it into a section of the Trans Canada Trail. The trails which make-up the Trans Canada Trail in Fundy include Goose River, Shiphaven, Coastal, Upper Salmon River, The Forks and Moosehorn trails. The Trans Canada trails are clearly marked and several interpretive panels along the way inform hikers about the purpose of the Trans Canada Trail system. The trail conveniently connects the Fundy Footpath to the Dobson Trail in New Brunswick, which is also part of the UNESCO Fundy Biosphere Reserve, one of our country's most prized landscape.

The Fundy Circuit connects 48-kilometres of trails to form a loop within Fundy National Park to showcase the very best of our river valleys, lakes, coastal forests and beaches.

The Dobson Trail is a continuous footpath through upland wilderness stretching 58 km from the northern boundary of Fundy National Park to Riverview NB (near Moncton).

The Fundy Footpath is a continuous trail that follows the Fundy coastline for 65 km from the Visitor Reception centre of Fundy National Park to the Big Salmon River near St. Martins, NB.

Hike a "century"

Participate in the The Fundy Challenge! The Fundy Guild rewards those who hike 100 km in Canada's National Parks. There is no time limit for reaching this goal, so day-hikers can participate as easily as avid backpackers. You only have to walk ten kilometres in Fundy; the rest can be completed in any national park.

Tide Schedule Experience the world famous Bay of Fundy Tides in Fundy National Park

In February 2014, the Bay of Fundy was named one of the Seven Natural Wonders of North America, because it is home to the largest tidal change in a single day. In Fundy National Park the tides measure between 9 and 12 metres in height depending on the phase of the moon. Alma Beach, Cannontown Beach, Herring Cove, or Point Wolfe are all great choices to see the tides.

Protecting Fundy

For present and future generations

Evidence of our work can be seen all around us: on land, we are restoring sensitive ecosystems to their natural splendour; in the skies, the once endangered Peregrine Falcon has returned to carve up the salty air; and in water, we are bringing back endangered Inner Bay of Fundy Atlantic Salmon—the King of Fish—to our two rivers.

Resource Conservation Profile

Restoring Sensitive Ecosystems

Evidence of New Brunswick's cultural history in industrial forestry can be seen throughout Fundy National Park, from the remnants of the Point Wolfe and Bennett Lake Dams to the trails visitors enjoy every day! As part of a larger vision for Fundy National Park's trail system, we are creating a more sustainable trail footprint while offering a more connected and diverse trail experience. As part of this vision we will be restoring land for our Acadian Forest ecosystem by reducing the width of some trails that were once used as logging roads, improving links to the Trans-Canada Trail, and identifying existing areas for multi-use trail development.

But the Acadian Forest isn't the only ecosystem benefiting from our new trail vision. Restoration of the Caribou Plain Bog has been ongoing and with the collaboration of the Maritime College of Forest Technology, we are seeing great improvements in this sensitive ecosystem.

Wild Atlantic Salmon are an iconic Canadian species. Their presence in Fundy National Park is a testament to our pristine wilderness and our commitment to maintaining the ecological integrity of this treasured place. Through salmon, we are able to share stories of our culture and heritage, of our connection to the land, and of the importance of preserving our wild spaces for all generations.

Fundy National Park's salmon story is older than the park itself. Our salmon are a part of a unique population that is found only in this region: inner Bay of Fundy Atlantic Salmon. After years of industrial forestry, commercial fishing, and a changing marine environment, this population experienced significant declines in the 1980's and is currently assessed as 'endangered' under Canada's Species at Risk Act.

Inner Bay of Fundy Salmon are too precious to let go. We are working closely with our network of government, non-government, industry, and First Nations partners in new and exciting ways to write the next chapter in the story of this iconic species. Through innovation, collaboration, and dedication, we are bringing back the 'King of Fish' to our rivers.

Experience Nature with our Resource Conservation Team

Fundy National Park has a volunteer program, which empowers volunteers young and old to contribute to a variety of resource conservation initiatives.

We are also looking for new ways to share our stories with you. This year, for the first time, we invite you to participate in our Swim with Salmon for Science program, as a way to experience our recovery efforts for inner Bay of Fundy Atlantic Salmon first hand. (This activity requires an additional fee.)

Please don't bring firewood into Fundy National Park

Why? The Brown Spruce Longhorn Beetle is an invasive species in Atlantic Canada and it is having a devastating effect on our forests. The leading cause of their spread is through transport of firewood with invasive insects hidden under the bark. Please leave your wood at home. Firewood can be purchased at the campground for $6.80 per bundle. Thank you for helping us to protect Fundy's forests.

- Keep your distance.
- Feeding wildlife is strictly forbidden. Animals that are fed will expect handouts and may become aggressive towards people.
- Keep your camping and picnic sites clean and store food in your vehicle.
- While driving, beware of deer and moose emerging from the forest.
- Be aware that wildlife can be unpredictable.
- More information on wildlife safety is available at the park's Visitor Centre and kiosks.
